

DES HORIZONS ÉVOLUTIFS II

Réalités des services de gestion des données de recherche

SHIFTING HORIZONS II

Realities of Research Data Management Services

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

JEREMY GEELLEN

SENIOR ADVISOR/ SCIENCE POLICY BRANCH CIHR

Jeremy Geelen is a senior advisor at the Canadian Institutes of Health Research, where he leads CIHR's open science and research data policy files. This includes implementing CIHR's Health Research and Health-Related Data Framework and Action Plan; and working with colleagues at the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada and the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada to develop and implement "Tri-Agency" open science policies, such as the Tri-Agency Open Access Policy on Publications, the Tri-Agency Statement of Principles on Digital Data Management, and the Tri-Agency Research Data Management Policy, which the agencies plan to release in the coming months. Actively engaged with funding agency colleagues internationally, Jeremy is a member of the advisory group revising the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development's Recommendations concerning Access to Research Data from Public Funding; he is a member of the Technical Advisory Board of the Research Data Alliance; and, with representatives from the Wellcome Trust, the National Institutes of Health, and the Japan Science and Technology Agency, he co-chairs a group of international funders that works towards international alignment on open research and data management policies and practices. Jeremy holds a PhD in philosophy from the University of Ottawa.

JONATHAN DEWAR

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, FIRST NATIONS INFORMATION GOVERNANCE CENTRE (FNIGC)

Jonathan Dewar is the Executive Director at the First Nations Information Governance Centre in Ottawa. Jonathan has been recognized as a leader in healing and reconciliation and Indigenous health and wellbeing education, policy, and research for over a decade. He has published extensively on these subjects, with a specialization in the role of the arts in healing and reconciliation, and has lectured nationally and internationally. From 2012 to 2016, Jonathan served as the first Director of the Shingwauk Residential Schools Centre and Special Advisor to the President at Algoma University, where he led research, education, curatorial, and community service programming, and taught courses in Anishinaabe Studies, Political Science, and Fine Arts. He continues to serve as a special advisor to the Children of Shingwauk Alumni Association and is co-curating a historical Shingwauk Residential School exhibition at Algoma University under their direction. From 2007-2012, Jonathan served as Director of Research at the Aboriginal Healing Foundation, where he led the Foundation's research and evaluation and knowledge translation efforts. Jonathan is of mixed heritage, descended from Huron-Wendat, French-, and Scottish-Canadian grandparents with an academic background in Indigenous arts and literatures and Indigenous studies. Jonathan's research explores the roles of art and artist in truth, healing, and reconciliation. He completed a doctorate in the School of Indigenous and Canadian Studies at Carleton University. He holds an appointment as Adjunct Research Professor in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at Carleton University.

KEVIN FITZGIBBONS

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, CORPORATE PLANNING AND POLICY DIVISION, NSERC

Kevin Fitzgibbons joined NSERC in October 2013. He works to support NSERC's role in federal science, technology and innovation policy, to drive strategic and integrated planning, and to oversee corporate planning and policy management throughout the organization. Kevin has over 25 years of experience in the public sector and was previously the Director of Innovation Science and Technology at the Department of Foreign Affairs, Trade and Development where he oversaw international science, technology and innovation cooperation projects and investments. He has also worked as the Executive Director of the Office of the National Science Advisor, and as a strategic planning and policy advisor with the National Research Council Canada (NRC). For his significant efforts and contributions in the public service Kevin was awarded the Queen's Jubilee Medal for Public Service in 2002. In addition, while he was with the National Research Council, he was awarded the NRC Corporate Services Award for Excellence in 2002, 1999, and 1997, as well as the NRC Excellence Award for Administration in 2000. Kevin has a Masters of Political Science from Université de Montréal.

MATTHEW LUCAS

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, CORPORATE STRATEGY AND PERFORMANCE, SSHRC

Matthew Lucas is the Executive Director of the Corporate Strategy and Performance Division at the Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC), a position he has held since October 2015. In the fall of 2017, Matthew also served as an advisor to the expert panel responsible for the review of federal support for fundamental science. Prior to joining SSHRC, Matthew served in a number of positions within the Science and Innovation Sector at Innovation, Science, and Economic Development Canada. These included: Acting Director of the team responsible for the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council and Major Research Infrastructure; Senior Policy Advisor in the Science, Technology, and Innovation Council Secretariat; Departmental Advisor to the Office of the Minister of State, Science and Technology; and Senior Policy Analyst in the External Relations Directorate, which included representing Canada on a number of OECD committees. Before moving to Ottawa and joining the federal government, Matthew worked at the Government of Ontario's Ministry of Science and Innovation, a position he obtained following the completion of a post-doctoral fellowship and doctorate at the University of Toronto.

JAMES DOIRON

PORTAGE RDM TRAINING EXPERT, & RDM SERVICES COORDINATOR, UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA LIBRARIES

James Doiron is the Research Data Management Services Coordinator, University of Alberta Libraries. With an educational background in the Social Sciences (Psychology & Criminology), James has extensive applied research and data management experience across a wide range of disciplines, areas of focus and data types. James actively sits on a number of local, national and international advisory and working groups, including both as a member of the UofA's Institutional RDM Strategy Working Group and Health Research Ethics Board, the Statistics Canada Data Liberation Initiative (DLI) External Advisory Committee, and the Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Council. James is co-Chair of the Canadian Association of Research Libraries (CARL) Portage Network Data Management Planning (DMP) Expert Group, and is additionally a member of the Portage Research Data Management (RDM) Training Expert Group, as well as the Dataverse North Working Group.

JANE FRY

DATA SERVICES LIBRARIAN, CARLETON UNIVERSITY

Jane Fry is the Data Services Librarian at MacOdrum Library (Carleton University). Working with faculty and researchers to help them in all aspects of Research Data Management is her prime focus. She also performs data rescues, and promotes data services and data literacy, as well as helping Carleton researchers at all levels to find their dataset of interest. Jane is an active member of many data interest groups including: the co-Chair of the Portage Training Expert Group; a member of the National Research Data Management Training Working Group; and the Working Group to Restructure the DDI Scientific Board.

FELICITY TAYLER

RESEARCH DATA MANAGEMENT LIBRARIAN, UNIVERSITY OF OTTAWA

Felicity Tayler is the Research Data Management Librarian at University of Ottawa. She holds an MLIS from McGill University (2006), a PhD in Interdisciplinary Humanities from Concordia University (2016), and was a Postdoctoral Fellow at the University of Toronto (2017-2018). As a co-applicant on the SSHRC-funded SpokenWeb partnership, her current research focus is metadata modeling, data visualization and the print culture of literary and poetic community. Her scholarly writing has been published in edited anthologies and in the Journal of Canadian Art History/Annales d'histoire de l'art canadien, Canadian Literature, and Mémoires du livre/Studies in Book Culture.

uOttawa

Bibliothèque
Library